Parent/Carer Engagement Policy

Therapeutic intervention for children is not effective without active family/parent/carers engagement and commitment.

As part of our therapeutic approach for children and young people at TLC we require parent/carers engagement and collaboration during and outside of sessions.

This approach yields the best results as therapeutic goals can then be generalised to the home environment and wider community.

This is the gold standard for interventions involving families.

Your therapist's primary role will often be a 'parent/carers coach', supporting you to support your child/family member.

By engaging in therapy services with TLC you agree that you will attend therapy sessions where appropriate and that you (or another important family member/carers) will be actively involved in your child's therapeutic service.
